Hurricane Beryl Operations

This month, SJRA's operational divisions worked around the clock to ensure infrastructure and water and wastewater services continued under normal operations during Hurricane Beryl. Despite increased challenges when severe weather hits our region, our team is always up for the task and works extra hard to serve our community with their water needs!

Commissioner Presentations

This month, SJRA visited Commissioner Matt Gray and several emergency responders in east Montgomery County, as well as Commissioner Charlie Riley's office, to share about weather resources to help the community be weather aware. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to work together to help our county!

Be Weather Aware

During hurricane season, it is vital to be weather aware so you and your family can stay safe during the storm. One tool that can help you stay weather aware is Know Your Watershed \(KYW\). KYW is an interactive mapping tool that allows users to enter their address and find out which watershed they are located in. This information can help users know how the water flows downstream in their area.

Important tips to know before a disaster strikes

MAKE AN EMERGENCY COMMUNICATION PLAN

Hurricane season is here - that means you and your family should take all the precautions necessary in the event of a storm making landfall in our region. Making an emergency communication plan is one of the first things you should do in preparation for a hurricane. #WeatherAware

To be fully prepared during Hurricane Season, follow these tips:

- Make a communication plan
- Know your community's evacuation plan
- Protect your documents and records
- Know where your gas and electrical shutoffs are located
- Pack an emergency kit
- Protect your pets

The San Jacinto River Authority (SJRA) is most known for managing and operating the Lake Conroe Dam, operating the Surface Water Treatment Plant on Lake Conroe, providing water and wastewater services to the residents of the Woodlands, serving the largest concentration of petrochemical manufacturing in the world, but they do so much more. SJRA has an active presence in the community they serve because its team members are also members of these very same communities.

The San Jacinto River Authority (SJRA) receives no money from the state, nor does it collect any type of taxes.

SJRA's mission is to develop, conserve, and protect the water resources of the San Jacinto River basin. Covering all or part of seven counties, the organization's jurisdiction includes the entire San Jacinto River watershed, excluding Harris County. The SJRA is one of two dozen river authorities in the State of Texas, and like other river authorities, its primary purpose is to implement long-term, regional projects related to water supply and wastewater treatment.
